

EVERGREEN STATE COLLEGE LONGHOUSE EDUCATION AND CULTURAL CENTER

OLYMPIA, WASHINGTON

EVERGREEN STATE COLLEGE

The first of its kind on a public campus in the United States, the Longhouse serves a variety of educational and cultural functions. It sustains an important relationship between the college and Native Americans from Puget Sound and Northwest Coast tribes.

The traditional Northwest longhouse design provides a welcoming place for events and education. The post-and-beam support system allows the interior “great hall” to be opened for large gatherings, or to be partitioned into classrooms.

The Longhouse is a popular campus facility for functions ranging from indigenous arts and culture exhibits to hosting visiting dignitaries.

FACTS

- 10,000 square feet
- Accommodates 500 people
- Flexible exhibit space for indigenous artists
- Catering kitchen
- Student resource center and lounge
- Outdoor Native American food and medicine garden

BENEFITS

- Showcase for indigenous arts and cultures
- Educational center for Native American students
- Gathering place for indigenous people from New Zealand to Alaska

JONES  JONES

ARCHITECTS
LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTS
PLANNERS